INTRODUCTION

- The Credentialed Community Language (CCL) test is an assessment of your ability to communicate at a community level between two languages (English and another language).
- Delivery mode - Online, Test fee - $814
- This test is not a professional certification. If you pass the CCL test, you are not certified to work as an interpreter or a translator.
- The CCL test is generally taken by people who plan to apply for a points-based skilled migration visa in Australia that awards points for Credentialed Community Language holders.
- Test candidates must be able to:
- Exchange simple information from one language to another, without deviating too much from normal pronunciation, standard of expression, style and register (formality).
- Demonstrate accurate comprehension and production in both English and the other test language.
- Before applying to sit the test, you should confirm (with the Department of Home Affairs or your migration agent) that the NAATI CCL test is accepted to claim the Credentialed Community Language points at the time of application.
- The CCL test is published within 4-6 weeks of the test date.
- A CCL result or credential letter is valid for five years from the date of issue.

ABOUT THE TEST

- Test cancellation

You are eligible for a refund of 75% of your test fee if you cancel your test at least 1 hour prior to the scheduled start time.

Your 75% refund will be processed within 14 days in most cases.

You will not receive a refund for non-attendance or cancellations after the scheduled start time.

- All tests are scheduled and listed in Sydney/Melbourne time (AET), you should ensure you check how your time zone aligns with the time listed.
- The CCL test is marked by trained, impartial examiners. The examiners assess each candidate's ability to communicate in both tested languages.

FAQ

- Can I sit the test from overseas?

Yes. All CCL tests are conducted online.

- Is there a time limit on CCL tests?

There is a national time of 20 minutes per test. We may cease a test if it runs too long.

- How can I report an incident during my test?

Any test issues should be reported within 24 hours via email to info@naati.com.au. Any incidents reported after this time frame will not be taken into consideration. Any test issues or incidents will be investigated, and a response provided as soon as the investigation has finished. Please ensure that you tell us your customer number in the subject line as without this a response may be delayed.

While reporting a complaint, please mention your customer number in the subject line. Your complaint will be thoroughly investigated and it may take up to two weeks for us to respond.

FAQ

- I am not satisfied with my results. What can I do?

A paid test review is only available to candidates whose initial result is 58 or higher. A test review means that a separate examiner will mark your test again, and the marks from all examiners will be taken into consideration to determine your final result.
A paid review result can take up to three weeks and the result will be sent to you via email.
Note: You cannot submit a new application and an application for a paid review at the same time. However, if you submit a new application and have not selected a test date yet, please write to us (info@naati.com.au) and provide your consent to withdraw your application. Once the application is withdrawn, you will be able to submit a paid review request.

- Can I reschedule my test?

Rescheduling is allowed up to 8 days before the test. You cannot reschedule a test within 8 days of the test. There is no cost to reschedule.Candidates are responsible for rescheduling their own test via their myNAATI account. You will need to reject your test session in myNAATI and then select another test date.

EQUIPMENT AND SYSTEM REQUIREMENTS

1. Laptop or computer with the following:

- Working camera, in-built microphone and speakers. No headsets, headphones or earphones are allowed during the CCL test.
- A power cord/connector.
- There is no minimum Operating System requirement, as long as the latest version of Google Chrome can be installed and run. The latest version of the Google Chrome browser must be installed.
- You will be prompted to download and install the ProctorExam Google Chrome extension during your system check.
- Adblocker Google Chrome extensions must be disabled or removed for the duration of the test as they can interfere with the test platform.
- The test platform requires the use of Google products. Candidates must be able to access and use these without interference to sit the test.
- Note: Candidates must use a personal device to sit the test. A work, university, or library laptop/PC often encounters issues that block access to the platform.

2. Phone or tablet (in addition to the laptop or computer):

- With a working camera
- Android 8+ and iOS 15.8+ smart devices
- You will be prompted to download and install the ProctorExam app (34MB) during your system check.

3. Internet connection:

- At least 10mbps download speed, 1.5mbps upload speed, latency (ping) of 25 milliseconds or less, and retransmission as low as possible.
- You can check your internet speed on https://speed.measurementlab.net/
- Note: You must not use a public internet connection to access the test: a library, university, or workplace internet connection, for example, can often block access to the testing platform due to firewalls.
- It is your responsibility to make sure your equipment is suitable and will function for the entire test. Failure to do so may result in your test being invalidated or cancelled with no refund. Small screens (such as laptop screens) may make it harder for you to see everything clearly. We recommend that your electronic devices be connected to a power source for the duration of your test.

WHAT IS THE CCL TEST

- The CCL test will require the candidate to interpret two pre-recorded conversations, known as dialogues, between two people: a native English speaker and a native speaker of the language other than English (LOTE).
- Each dialogue is approximately 300 words (or a few minutes of audio recording), with about half in English and half in the LOTE. Each dialogue will be about a different topic.
- The dialogues are divided into short segments of 35 words or less, which make up the conversation.
- After each segment has played, a chime will sound, and then the test candidate will interpret what has been said.
- Candidates must begin interpreting within five (5) seconds of the chime sound. Long pauses may result in marks being deducted, particularly if it results in the total test recording going for longer than 20 minutes.
- All CCL tests are delivered online on a testing platform called Televic. Test times are scheduled at Australian Eastern Time (Sydney/Canberra/Melbourne time). NAATI uses an online proctoring program called ProctorExam to make sure all tests are valid and are sat by the correct person.

WHAT IS THE CCL TEST

Each dialogue will be about a different topic which reflect real-life situations in Australian society.

- business
- consumer affairs
- employment
- health
- immigration/settlement
- legal
- community
- education
- financial
- housing
- insurance
- social services

TEST ASSESSMENT

- Each dialogue is worth 45 marks (90 marks in total). To pass the CCL test, you must achieve a score of 63 or more, and at least 29 marks in each dialogue.
- NAATI assess CCL tests using a mark deduction method. This means that each test begins with 90 marks, and marks are taken off if the candidate makes errors during their test. Each error will result in a different number of marks being taken off, depending on how much it impacts on the overall communication.
- You should read the test rules and policies in the CCL Test Candidate Instructions here. This includes the rules on repeating a segment, pausing or correcting yourself.
- Candidates should pay particular attention to:
- Language quality – competency in both English and the other language being assessed
- Language register – matching the formality of the speaker when you transfer the meaning of what they say to the other person
- Excessive repeats – only one repeated segment per dialogue is allowed without penalty

TEST ASSESSMENT

- Marks are deducted for the following types of errors:
- Accuracy – how correct the information is, not removing or adding any information, and not more than one repeated segment per dialogue
- Quality of language – using good sentence structure, natural use of the language and pronunciation, the right level of formality, not making many grammatical errors
- Quality of delivery – no excessive pauses, hesitations or self-corrections

RESULTS AND CREDENTIALS

- Results are sent via email within 4-6 weeks from noreply@naati.com.au.
- NAATI issues individual results as they are finalised. This may mean people sitting the test on the same day receive their results on different days.
- You will receive either a pass (63 or over, including more than 29 marks per dialogue) or fail (below 63, or less than 29 marks in one or both dialogues). If you pass, you will receive the Credentialed Community Language credential letter.
- Here are some examples which demonstrate what a pass or fail result may look like and why:
